This issue features the three candidates for election on 21 April 2022 to Goring-on-Thames Parish Council.

Election of Parish Councillor for Goring-on-Thames – Thursday 21 April

The Poll will take place in the Bellême Room between 7am and 10pm.

Genie invited each of the three candidates for election to write a short statement indicating why they would like to be a parish councillor, how they think they can be of value to both the council and the community and what qualities and experience they will bring to the role. Their responses, verbatim, are below. Genie is impartial and has no responsibility for the content of the statements.

The candidates are:

Jim Emerson:

'I have served the Goring community for many years and am standing for Good Governance for Goring and good communication of Council decision making, and I believe a greater diversity of ideas will help us all to cooperate in enhancing our community and our village environment – I was proposed by an ordinary voter, not an existing Councillor.'

Chloë Morrison:

'I am thrilled at the chance of becoming an active member of the Parish Council, with the hope of helping to make tangible, positive changes we can all be proud of in Goring, whilst diligently representing the views and interests of my fellow villagers.'

Richard Osborne:

'A community thrives when it supports everyone, and I want to be part of continuing that effort.'
