This issue reports on the re-opening of the A329 in Streatley

A329 in Streatley to re-open today, 9 June 2023

Works completed earlier than anticipated and the road re-opens today

SGN have been replacing the mains gas pipes in Streatley. A section of the A329 has been closed as part of Phase 1, which began in mid May, and was expected to take about 6 weeks.

SGN have now begun work on Wantage Road which was originally scheduled as Phase 3, starting in September. Genie has been unable to ascertain how long this work is expected to take or whether the road will be completely closed.

It was originally planned that Phase 2 would begin in late July, when work would include Streatley Hill (B4009) which would be closed for approximately three weeks and the Coombe, where there would be traffic lights for about seven weeks. Genie hopes to have more information in due course.
